

Building reliable APIs

A sample talk outline for local development

Abstract

Explore practical ways to make an API easier to maintain:
clear contracts, focused validation, authorization boundaries,
and tests that protect observable behavior.

Talk outline

1. Define the contract before changing implementation.
2. Keep authentication and authorization responsibilities clear.
3. Handle failures without hiding their underlying causes.
4. Verify success, failure, and boundary cases.

Download check

This is a real, one-page PDF supplied with dummy proposals.
Each seeded proposal receives its own copy in local storage.
Use it to verify attachment downloads without uploading a file.